About Me

I'm a passionate Electronics and Communication Engineering student at IEM Kolkata, with expertise in programming languages like Python, C, HTML, JS, and CSS. I enjoy exploring new technologies, coding, and traveling. I'm excited to connect with like-minded professionals and students to collaborate on innovative projects and share knowledge. And I want to know about VLSI (Very-Large-Scale Integration).

Experience

URECKON'25

I worked as a volunteer at Ureckon Techfest, where I contributed to organizing and managing various technical and cultural events. My role involved coordinating with participants, assisting the organizing team, and ensuring smooth event execution. This experience helped me develop strong teamwork, communication, and leadership skills while gaining exposure to a dynamic tech-driven environment.

IET STUDENT CHAPTER MEMBER

I am pursuing the IET (Institution of Engineering and Technology) Student Membership throughout the four years of my B.Tech program. This membership provides me with opportunities to enhance my technical knowledge, connect with industry professionals, and stay updated with global advancements in engineering and technology. It also helps me develop a professional network and gain insights into real-world engineering practices while contributing to the IET's mission of engineering a better world.

IEE STUDENT CHAPTER MEMBER

I am pursuing the IEEE (Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers) Student Membership throughout my four years of B.Tech. This membership offers numerous benefits, including access to IEEE's extensive technical library, professional networking, and participation in conferences and competitions. It provides valuable opportunities for mentorship, scholarships, and career development. Being part of the IEEE student chapter also allows me to collaborate on innovative projects, develop leadership skills, and stay connected with the global engineering community.

PROJECT COMPITITION - GENOVATE'25 [IEE]

I participated in the Genovate Project Competition, conducted by IEEE at the University of Engineering and Management, Kolkata. In this competition, our team developed a budget-friendly rent housing platform designed to help people find affordable accommodation options under ₹15,000. The project focused on practical innovation, usability, and social impact, allowing us to apply our technical knowledge to solve real-world housing challenges.
